Dear Mars Hill Listener,

How thankful we are for technology! Here at the Mars Hill Network during these days of social distancing, Mars Hill was able to operate pretty much normally despite the staff challenges.

Did you know that during the last month and a half our on-air announcers have either produced their programs from their "makeshift" home studios, or have done the majority of their production at our MHN studios in the evening hours? Being able to access our music library and programming software from primarily a laptop computer would not have been possible just a short time ago. And our video work...again created in a staff member's home studio!

Our office staff operates from both the Mars Hill front office and from their homes. Again, remote access to our data base make this all possible.

Staff participates in group virtual staff meetings once per week via the internet. We discuss ministry plans, do department reports, and have a time of prayer primarily from the safety of individual staff homes.

A lot can be said for technology and its value to the Mars Hill ministry, however, there is nothing like interacting with one another face to face, not monitor to monitor. The "real" person element, particularly I think among believers, is a bond not easily reproduced. We can record voice tracks, utilize video, but the warmth of human companionship...that is "priceless".

Thank you, friend, for being part of the Mars Hill family of listeners. Though you're on the "other side" of the microphone, and miles away, we sense your presence in a special way. We're in Christ, we're all in the body...and that's high tech!

"...so in Christ we, though many, form one body, and each member belongs to all the others."
Romans 12:5
